

How Big Is The Forest?

- ▶ Did you know that the Conecuh national forest is actually 84,000 acres? That's a lot of land. It is over the Florida-Alabama line. this means half of the forest is in our state, and half of the forest is in Florida

Camping out

You can camp out at Conecuh National Park and enjoy the breeze as long as tour the area and explore the wildlife

RCW

The Red Cockaded Woodpecker has no specks of red on it. A lot of people say well doesn't that mean that it should have red on it? Actually it means that it has red to his/her feathers.

The Bob White

The bob white is a quail. Its scientific name is Colinus Virginus.
